Why or why not?

Jay is the most amazing Math instructor I've ever had. He breaks complex material down into details. He helps students to understand math concepts step by step. Above all, I think Jay had done a spectacular job guiding us through difficult math problems with his superb articulacy. The linguistic model he constructed around stats problems has been beyond helpful. BTW, Jay is always willing to help students with any questions they have, he is the nicest instructor.

What did you like about this class? How could the instructor improve this class?

I've said it all in the last box. Jay, thank you thank you for the class. :0)

Why or why not?

Jay was absolutely an amazing teacher. He was super clear, and provided lots of examples. His teaching method was so organized, his presentations, and his way to use polleverywhere was an amazing way to receive student knowledge feedback in a way that it was anonymous. So if I had submitted the wrong answer to the poll, there would be no shame, and instead created an opportunity to learn. He created a friendly, encouraging, and engaging learning environment. I wish I could take the next level of statistics with him, I didn't see him as an option when registering for classes next term but if he did, I'd sign right up. I definitely recommend him for anyone who wants to take statistics.

What did you like about this class? How could the instructor improve this class?

I loved his grading method, using gradescope was a super clear way to know what was correct. His lectures were made in such an engaging way. His ability to post the slides on google docs made the lecture information easily accessible. I loved the lecture playlist because I could always stay on track if I missed anything during lecture. What worked great were the study sessions. I really cannot find an area for improvement but I'm sure he can because he is the type of teacher to always want to improve no matter how great things are working, because he always creates a new method to benefit the class like adding google docs as an option and creating folders to access course information. For me, everything in his class served a purpose and gave me the tools to become a better problem solver!

Why or why not?

He will put his own time in to make sure you understand, and I really appreciated that. I recommended him to my English class!

What did you like about this class? How could the instructor improve this class?

He explains things well, and cares about his student's understanding of the material. He created a fun learning environment and I enjoyed the class.
