Why or why not? Jay is an incredible teacher and communicator. This has been the best math class I have ever taken. Jay has mastered patience, respect, kindness, compassion, and good ole humor! He truly understands the challenges of the learning process, and facilitated space for authentic learning to take place. I was really sad when I didn't see his name on MTH 244! :(

What did you like about this class? How could the instructor improve this class?

I appreciated the anonymous poll questions! And the numerous explanations from different angles.

What did you like about this class? How could the instructor improve this class?

I have struggled with dyscalcula my entire life. Usually, I have to take a math class several times in order to understand the material. This time was much different. Jay is a fantastic teacher. While it was pretty clear in the beginning that he was very new to teaching on his own, I noticed a huge change pretty fast. He came into his own as a teacher and let me tell you, it's awesome. He is so incredibly patient with his students and does what he can to make sure that we are understanding everything. I highly recommend him to any student that is uncomfortable with math.

works around students needs, especially during these difficult times.

What did you like about this class? How could the instructor improve this class?

The access to help was great. Have due dates for homework weekly instead of having it all due before the end of the term.

He was thoughtful and understanding of life issues that arose during the term in regards to being affected by covid-19, i.e. losing a job a second time and being stressed about the course load

What did you like about this class? How could the instructor improve this class?

The only critique I have is to please label the lecture slides with page numbers, it will be easier to access information for notes.

Why or why not? Jay is literally the ONLY Math teacher I feel I'm going to recommend from now on. He is a very effective speaker and you can tell that he is legitimately passionate about each and every lesson and students ability to succeed . Honestly phenomenal work for having been his first official class. Really helped me see mathematics in a new light.

What did you like about this class? How could the instructor improve this class?

I'm not sure how it could improve but I'm sure Jay will find a way. OH TAKE MORE REAL DATA AT THE BEGINING Those were the absolute coolest lesson tie-in's I have seen in my personal history of education. I think that is what really gets the people going. When they see the real life data made by themselves and their peers! Thanks so much Jay. Best of luck in all that you do friend.

Why or why not?

I would recommend this class to other math students because the instructor was very kind and understood that all students came from all kinds of different math levels. He was always there to support students in need by being very approachable and responded to emails in a timely manner. His overall goal was for all of his students to succeed which should be the goal of every great instructor.

What did you like about this class? How could the instructor improve this class?

The class lectures were entertaining which made learning the material a lot easier. I was rarely confused about anything we went over in class because the class lecture slides were very detailed and organized. He assigned homework appropriately which was great because many students have limited time to complete homework at times, and the homework was uploaded quick enough that we still remembered what we just went over in class. I truly don't have any suggestions for how the instructor can improve the class. I really enjoyed this class, and that is coming from someone who has struggled in math before.

Why or why not?

Jay is such a great young professor. I like how the grading system worked that made us less stressful about grading since math 243 did require a lot of critical thinking. He did answer emails fast and available to get help from. However, he went through lecture pretty fast that made me feel behind sometimes.

What did you like about this class? How could the instructor improve this class?

I liked the grading scale. He should have gone through lectures slower

Why or why not?

Mr. Bonthius was new to teaching solo, I think that as he develops his system and style of teaching he will continue to improve. The only issues I really had were that sometimes he didn't seem to have developed his rhythm with made the material a bit confusing. But considering this is a difficult class to teach anyway I think he did great.

What did you like about this class? How could the instructor improve this class?

I thought that material was very interesting. I can see how it would be very important if I were to go into doing some type of research. I was able to relate it to a lot of real world things. I would have enjoyed having more homework, the assignments are very small and I would have liked more practice. I have also taken classes where you can watch pre-recorded lectures and then the class time is used to discuss questions or go over any difficult material and I have found having constant access to material to be helpful. I was not thrilled about the poll everywhere questions during class. I seems like the time we spent waiting on the results could have been more well spent going over more examples of problems instead of just one or two. I think we discovered how helpful geogebra is late in the term but hopefully students will have the chance to start interacting with that on day one. As I said in the previous question this was Mr. Bonthius' first time teaching on his own. I think as he continues to develop his skills and style he will just continue to be a better and better teacher.

Why or why not? Jay was the best math teacher I have ever had. He was extremely good at communicating the course material in a way that was easy to understand, and also made the material interesting.

What did you like about this class? How could the instructor improve this class?

I liked that Jay made the class fun. He did a great job of keeping students engaged and I liked that the students participated in the lectures. I think Jay is a great instructor, and it seems like he really enjoys teaching, and like he cares a lot about his students. I can't say enough good things about this class.

Why or why not?

This is the best instructor I've ever met. He is friendly and funny and he briefly teach the main, important points.

What did you like about this class? How could the instructor improve this class?

I love the way the instructor lead the lessons and give examples by many ways, it helps to understand easier. He gives a lot of chances for grading and practices. He is willing to answer any questions to answer hard/easy or unclear questions. Great class

What did you like about this class? How could the instructor improve this class?

Mr Bonthius may just be the best instructor I've ever had, and I do not say that flippantly. He clearly has strong grasp of the content and was able to explain the material in various different ways to help the whole class understand, not just those who do well in math. I honestly don't know how he could improve. He made himself available even outside of office hours. He even hosted extra study groups for us which were basically just extra classes where he helped us through problems. I will recommend him every chance I get!
